Missouri Forest Products Association (MFPA) www.moforest.org . They can advertise your sale on their web site. They are also a good source of information on Missouri forest products. They also provide an updated list of both Master Loggers and loggers that have completed the Professional Timber Harvester training.

Missouri Consulting Foresters Association www.missouriforesters.com - A consulting forester is a self-employed professional forester who provides forest management advice/assistance on a fee or contract basis. Some services may include value appraisals/inventories, plan development, silvicultural practices, timber sale marketing and assistance, tax information, and other specialized services. The costs associated with hiring a consulting forester are usually returned to the landowner in increased revenue through better marketing of the timber sale.

Loggers List:

The following list of loggers is split out into three categories: 1) Master Loggers; 2) Loggers who have attended Professional Timber Harvester training; and 3) Additional loggers. Information on Master Logger Certification and Professional Timber Harvester training is described below:

ML (Master Logger): The Master Logger program is a performance based certification that is monitored by an independent advisory council. The Master Logger program is the highest level of achievement for a logger in Missouri. Master loggers are assessed by a third party audit system to ensure their logging meets the performance standards of the program. Loggers must have attended Professional Timber Harvester training before enrolling in the program. For more information, contact the Missouri Forest Products Association.
